Dr. Bernyesht: Your seed's buds were quite large, it was difficult to remove them. However they also indicated your attunement with the seed to be quite promising.

Opnyeshara: So these 'buds' weren't necessary?

Dr. Bernyesht: Not for our purposes, but they are mostly a byproduct of the earlier generations of Aero-Infantry. You will be receiving the latest iteration, they are much more convenient.

Opnyeshara: How so? Do I need to grow more engines for you to dismantle?

Dr. Bernyesht: I understand your criticisms, however many brave pilots before you lost their lives to get us this far. I won't stand for their disrespect.

Opnyeshara: I didn't mean to disrespect them, doctor.

Dr. Bernyesht: I know you didn't. Now, please place your legs into these engines. When I activate them, you will feel them fuse with your legs. For the first time it may be uncomfortable, but you will acclimate to it over time.
